

A guide for parents about intellectual disability

This part of the Raising Children website has information about children with intellectual disability.

The website explains:

- what intellectual disability is like in children
- how early intervention can help
- who can give support.

The website says:

"Children grow and develop at different speeds. But you know your child best. If you're worried that your child is slower to learn and think than other children the same age, trust your instincts. It's a good idea to talk with your GP."

We trust this resource

We trust this resource because it is:

- Made to help, not for profit
- Made by people who know a lot about the topic
- Made in Australia

We've checked this resource, and you can follow our guide to know if health information is true and right for you.

This resource was made by

Raising Children Network

Raising Children Network is funded by the Australian Government. The website has free, reliable, up-to-date and independent information to help families grow and thrive together.

- Visit